ED FOR SOME DAYS.

Owing to the vast importance of the interests involved it is not likely that the isthmian canal commission will be prepared to announce its action in the matter of the award of the contract for the construction of the Panama canal for several days yet. It is said that the commission is somewhat embarrassed in its present consideration of the question by the fear that it may be brought before Congress within a few days with a view to the enactment of legislation restricting the employment of certain classes of labor, alien or otherwise. So far as the limited time and study devoted to the bids submitted Saturday allows, the joint bid of William J. Oliver of Tennessee and Anson M. Bangs of New York appears to be the one most acceptable to the government officials. They offered to do all the work of construction required at the rate of 6.75 per cent of the total cost of #### Contractor's Requirements.

It is explained that the contractor will have to do only with the work of construction. The government will furnish the materials and machinery. The contractor will furnish all labor, foremen, superintendents, clerks, general office staff and tools of a minor character, and he will make what are known as outside repairs upon equipment and machinery; but there his obligations end. The government must supply all loco-motives, cars, steam shovels, dredges and the like, as well as all raw materials to be put into the work, such as cement, explo-sives, oil, coal and fuel.

The plant in Panama now owned by the isthmian canal commission will be simply turned over to the contractor, who, with his great force of skilled men to direct the labor, will go ahead and finish the job with which the government has been wrestling. But the government does not relinquish one bit of responsibility. The chief engineer of the canal commission will be in direct charge of the work of construction, and in matters of policy his word will be final. The government of the canal zone is, of course, retained in all its details, and the commission will run the commissary department, the sanitary department, the mess houses, quarters for men and officers, the Panama railroad, an auditing department, a department of material and supplies, and, in general, will assume all the functions of administration.

The form of contract prepared by the isthmian canal commission provides a system of bonuses and penalties which will tend to make the contractor hurry the work along. Although the question of the award of the contract is still unsettled, Chairman Shonts frankly expresses his satisfaction that so responsible a combination as Oliver & Bangs submitted the lowest reasonable bid.

What Mr. Oliver Says.

Mr. Oliver, who fully expects to secure the contract, says that American negro labor will have a large part in building the canal if his views prevail. In work through the south he now employs thousands of negroes. Five thousand or more of them will be taken to the isthmus. A large force of white superintendents, with foremen, steam-shovel men and sub-bosses will also be sent.

conditions under which Mr. Oliver has performed contract work in Mississippi and other southern states are not unlike those at Panama. Speaking of his plans,

"As I now do my work the organization on each separate job is under the direction of a managing partner, with full authority to hire and discharge employes, and who is held responsible for results.

"The employes who have been on the isthmus for a considerable period must be good employes or they would not have stuck to the work. From time to time the never had any difficulty with labor that I could not handle. If the men are well fed, comfortably housed and get their money promptly we can stand some trouble on account of bad weather. A man with his feet in the mud and rain on his back is a bad man to argue with, especially if he does not know that a hot meal and a dry place to sleep are waiting for him."

MORE STRINGENT LAW.

Littering of Doorways With Adver-

tisements to Be Stopped. As a result of the numerous complaints from citizens in various sections of the city about the littering of doorsteps and vestibules with literature and advertisements by money-lending concerns, Com missioner West has recommended that more stringent laws be enacted to govern the money-lending concerns in the District. If his recommendations are adopted and the necessary legislation is obtained these concerns will have to be licensed, and will be controlled by laws similar to those recently enacted for employment agencies.

Some of those who have written to the Commissioner complaining about this traffic have inclosed the circulars and pamphlets thrown into their doors, most of which read, "Let Us Lend You Money,"
"Don't Borrow Until You See Us," or "We Will Pay Your Bills," "Borrow Money on Your Piano," etc.

The "flat dwellers" appear to have been more annoyed than the others. They de-clare that every morning they find their mail boxes filled with this kind of litera-According to the present law the distribution of these circulars is not a vio-lation as long as they are not obscene or if they are not thrown on the steps in such a manner as to blow on the streets, and Commissioner West has determined that these concerns have too free a hand, and should be subjected to stricter laws.

In a letter to the board of Commissioners yesterday Commissioner West stated:

"The accompanying pamphlets, cards, dodgers and other advertising matter, nearly all representing different institu-tions, and all of them deposited at various times in the doorway of a single resident of this city, illustrate the extent to which money-loaning concerns are being multi-plied in the District of Columbia. It will be noticed that nearly all of these concerns are anonymously conducted, and that every inducement is offered to get people to borrow from them. Not only ought these concerns to be compelled to pay a license, but they ought to be subjected to regulations, and, in fact, ought to be controlled by legislation similar to that recently enacted for employment agencies. "I move that the corporation counsel be directed to frame a bill which the Commissioners can submit to Congress, and which will license and regulate these moneylending concerns."

MISS E. B. JOHNSTON'S FUNERAL. Remains Interred This Afternoon in

Rock Creek Cemetery. Funeral services over the remains of Miss Elizabeth Bryant Johnston, who died early Sunday morning after a short illness at her residence, 1320 Florida avenue, were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. G. Wil-Hamson Smith of Hartford, Conn., officiated. Dr. Smith, who is ex-president of Trinity College, Connecticut, during the civil war was assistant pastor at St. John's Church, 16th and H streets, and has been a lifelong friend of the late Judge Johnston and his family. The ceremony, in accordance with a wish once expressed by Miss Johnston, a wish once expressed by Miss Johnston, was performed in all respects like that of her brother, the late judge, even to the prayer, "Father, Bend Low Thine Ear to My Cry," sung by Mr. Philip F. ### CONTRACT MAY NOT BE AWARD- IMPROVEMENT PROPOSED ON PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

thoroughfare of which the citizens of the capital are so proud, is to have a new pavement over most of its length within the next year. The District engineers are at work on the plans that call for a revision in the grade of the street, the setting of new granite curb, and the laying of a sheet-asphalt pavement from a point near 41/2 street to 15th street.

The condition of the existing pavement has been such for the past half-dozen years that the frequent patching to which it has been subjected has only tended to make the irregularities more pronounced, and this, together with the fact that when paved some dozen years ago proper attention was not given to the details of the grades has caused the street to become in time of rainy weather one of the worst

Two years ago the Commissioners tried to induce Congress to make a special ap-propriation for the resurfacing of Pennsylvania avenue, but were unsuccessful. Capt. Morrow, the assistant to the Engineer Commissioner in charge of street paving, has decided that when work opens up in the spring to devote the available balance of the appropriation for repairs to streets to this purpose, and to finish the work with the appropriation that becomes avail-

Amount of Balance.

It is estimated that the balance now amounts to $80,000, and this must be spent this fiscal year. This is about half enough to do the work, so that it is planned to commence early in March on the north side of "the avenue" near 41/2 street and work westward until the appropriation is

The Brennan Construction Company of this city, the present contractors for the repairs to asphalt streets, will begin the work, but as their five-year contract expires the 1st of next July, it will remain for the new contractor to take up the work under another contract after the beginning

The preliminary work on a paving job of this character is enormous, and Assistant Engineer J. W. Dare, the District's expert on this class of work, is already engaged on the surveys and preparation of plans.

Pennsylvania avenue has one of the widest readways in the country, being 108 feet from curb to curb. In order to properly drain an asphalt surface of this extengreat care in the working out of the crown of the street and the different interesections is necessary, and to this work Mr. Dare will devote himself for the next two It will be necessary in connection with the paving work to revise the grade of the underground street car tracks in the center of the street, and this work will be done by the Capital Traction Company, and they will pay for the pavement between lines two feet exterior to their outer

It has been determined to set new granite curb along the street, and for this part of the work the property owners according to law will have to pay one-half the cost, which will amount to about 50 cents per linear foot.

JANITOR SENT TO JAIL.

James Henderson Accused of Robbing Offices in His Charge.

To allow for further investigations of the operations of James Henderson, assistant janitor of the Columbia building, who, it is alleged, has been rifling offices which he had charge of, Henderson was committed to jail from the Police Court today, and the hearing on the charges filed until tomorrow. Detectives Baur, Hartigan, Helan and McNamee are working on the case, and they expect to file a long list of charges of petit larceny against Henderson

Henderson, it is stated, was a janitor in the Columbia and had access to certain offices in the building. Articles began to be found missing from the offices. Coats, desk supplies and small office furniture were listed as missing. The police were notified and an investigation was started. Henderson, it is stated, was arrested yesterday by Baur and Hartigan, with a miss-ing coat in his possession. Efforts were at nce directed to connecting him with other larcenies from the offices.

AT FREDERICKSBURG, VA.

Fatal Results of Engineer's Hurry-Other News Matter.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., January 15, 1907. While hurrying to reach the bedside of his dying wife in Richmond on an engine tendered him by the railroad company, an engineer whose name was not learned ran against a handear on which was William M. Lloyd, a Western Union lineman, about five miles south of this city yesterday. Lloyd was thrown about fifty feet. He sustained injuries from which he died soon after being brought to the Mary Washington Hospital in this city.

The same engine struck and instantly killed a colored section hand named Shelter, about nine miles farther south. The supervisors of King George county closed the game season in that county the 7th of this month.

The one hundredth anniversary of Gen. R. E. Lee's birthday will be observed with appropriate exercises in St. George's Episcopal Church in this city. The exercises will consist of an address by Rev. Dr. J. W. Rosebro. Rev. R. Aubrey Williams of the Baptist Church will read the farewell address of Gen. Lee. Gen. Lee's favorite hymns will be sung by local singers. The hymns will be sung by local singers. The services will be participated in by the Maury Camp of Confederate Veterans, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the Sons of Confederate Veterans of this city and a number of camps of Confederate Veterans. of surrounding countles.

News of Leesburg. Special Correspondence of The Star.

LEESBURG, Va., January 14, 1907. Services over the remains of Col. E. V. White were held in the Methodist Church In Leesburg at 11 o'clock this morning, and were attended by a large number of friends and relatives from Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Maryland and all parts of Loudoun county. Col. White, being an elder in the Primitive Baptist Church and that denomination having no church building in town, services were held at the Methodist Church. They were conducted by the following elders of his church, who also acted as pallbearers: Durand of Philadelphia. Eubanks of Georgia, ex-Representative Posey Lester of Virginia, Gold of North Carolina, Badger and Gore of Virginia. The local camps of Confederate Veterans, of which he was commander, and of the Sons of Veterans, Loudoun Chapter of United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the officers, directors and employes of the People's National Bank, of which he had been the president ever since its organization, acted as escort to the Interment was made in Union cemetery, Leesburg.

Senator John W. Daniel, a personal friend of Col. E. V. White, attended his funeral. Train No. 127 of the Southern railway, due at Leesburg at 7:09 p.m., was derailed just below town Sunday evening by reason of an open switch. The engine, tender and baggage car were badly damaged, but the train crew and several passengers who were aboard escaped injury. Investigation seemed to fix the responsibility on the switchman, and he was promptly discharged this morning.

Wharf Inspection Suggested. It has been suggested to the Commissioners by the superintendent of police that in view of the fact that the wharves along the river front will be used to a considerable extent during the Jamestown exposition, especially those at the foot of 7th street, a pleted from 12th street to the Brentwood Following the funeral the floral tributes were sent to Garfield Memorial Hospital, of which Miss Johnson was one of the founders.

The matter has been referred to Commissioners. The matter has been referred to Commissioner biddle for action.

AT SESSION OF EAST WASHING-TON ASSOCIATION.

The question of providing a system of water service for the villages on the heights east of the Anacostia river was discussed by the East Washington Heights Citizens Association at a meeting last evening. H. A. Buscher, the president, presided, and D. C. Fountain recorded the minutes. Secretary Fountain reported that he had instituted correspondence with the several citizens' associations of the different towns interested in the extension of the water service, with a view of securing their co-operation in the plan proposed by the East Washington Heights Citizens' Association of solving the question.

Rev. James W. Many, pastor of the East Washington Heights Baptist Church, reported, as a member of the special committee appointed for the work, that he had visited the Congress Heights Citizens' Association, before which he had made an address, touching on the matter of the water service extension. He stated the association had referred the subject to a committee, but appeared favorably disposed toward the plan suggested. The secretary read a communication from the Garfield Citizens' Association, the purport of which was that the association had indorsed the project of the Fast Washington dorsed the project of the East Washington Heights organization.

W. H. Lewis, the secretary, stated he had been designated as the member to attend the proposed conference.

To Arrange Conference.

On motion of Mr. Many the secretary was authorized to name a date for a conference after replies have been received from the associations in Anacostia and Randle Highlands.

The secretary presented a communication from the electrical engineer of the District in response to a request for the placing of naphtha lights along South Bowen road in which it was stated that all the lamps that can be erected this fiscal year have already been ordered by the Commissioners, and there is no available balance for additional ones. C. L. Jenkins criticised the alleged policy "in causing so few improvements to be made in that part of the District lying across the Eastern branch." Barney Harris stated that in requiring any street car company that wishes from the electrical engineer of the Disquiring any street car company that wishes to build a road along Branch avenue to first deposit the sum of $10,000 with which to widen the highway he thought the Commissioners were supported by the commissioners with the commissioners. missioners were making a condition that would result in driving away a prospective trolley line.

On motion, the subject of asking the Commissioners to recommend a sum of be-tween $25,000 and $50,000 at the next session of Congress for the extension of Pennsylvania avenue was referred to a comsylvania avenue was referred to a committee.

President Buscher directed attention to the agitation for cheaper gas and universal transfers on street car lines. In discussing the matter of transfers, Mr. Many gave it as his opinion that the transfer system anywhere is subject to being thoroughly abused by the public. If a system could be devised by which this abuse would not occur he believed the railroads would be willing to adopt it of their own accord. The railroads should not be told alone to do the square thing in this transfer matter, Mr. Many said, but the citizens as well. The association indorsed both measures. association indorsed both measures. President Buscher announced that he will appoint new committees this week. The following were admitted to membership: John W. Beck, William T. Frazier, Charles Harmon, E. L. McDonald, Henry Maryman, Andrew Newland, Gustaf Rundquist, Geo. W. Sousa and John S. Sharper.

HEAVY BOND REQUIRED.

Arthur Welsh Held for Action of the Grand Jury. Caught in the house of Harry Steinberg, 725 41/2 street southwest, it is alleged, Arthur Welch, colored, fired a revolver at Steinberg, knocked Mrs. Steinberg down with a vicious blow, and then made his escape. He was taken into custody later Sunday night by Sergt. Dunigan of the fourth precinct, and was identified positively as the man who was caught in the store.

Welch was charged in the Police Court this morning with housebreaking and with assault on Mrs. Steinberg, and he was held for the action of the grand jury on the first charge, and in default of $1,500 bond was ordered to be committed to jail. The other case was continued for sentence.

Late Sunday night last, Mrs. Steinberg heard some one in the lower part of the residence, and her husband went down to residence, and her husband went down to investigate, carrying a lamp with him. As he approached the intruder, the latter rushed toward him with a gun raised. "Keep still or I'll shoot," he ordered. I'he intruder then smashed the lamp, pulled the trigger of his weapon, but the bullet missed its aim and grazed Mrs. Steinberg's nead. Mrs. Steinberg had then come down stairs, and when Welch saw her, he struck her in the eye, knocking her to the floor. As she fell, Mrs. Steinberg had her four weeks' old baby in her arms, but the infant escaped
